Similar to the Darwins in their tall, strong growth, and flowering at the same time. They produce immense bloom on long, stiff stems, and in some instances are larger than the Darwins. Their artistic colors make them great favorites with those who desire to contrast their bronze, terra-cotta, and buff shadings with the lighter-colored Darwins. They make a fine effect in hardy borders, and when used as a cut flower last a long while in water.

Michell's Bulb Planting Chart

[illegible]

SINGLE EARLY TULIPS

The Early Single Tulips bloom a long time before the Late Tulips begin to show color and give the garden a glorious range of soft and brilliant colors early in spring. They mature quickly after flowering, so that the bulbs can be lifted early and the space planted again with summer plants. The asterisk (*) preceding the name of a variety denotes that it is suitable for forcing as well as bedding. The letters, A, B, and C, following the name indicate their relative earliness to bloom, the A's being the earliest, followed by the B's and later by the C's. Figures indicate the normal height in inches.

Triumph Tulips

BREEDER TULIPS

Soft, dull, blended colors characterize the Breeder Tulips. Their blooms are immense, and since they come at the same time as the Darwins it is possible to plan beautiful borders of the two. Best effects are obtained by planting at least a dozen of the same kind together in a group, instead of mixing up the colors. The border may then be composed of a gamut of tones, one blending into the next. Especially to be avoided is the practice of setting out the bulbs in a single line, for then no mass of color is possible.

Michell's Sweet-Scented Hyacinths

Hyacinths

Pot Culture: Plant any time from September to November, using a 4- or 5-inch pot for single bulbs or several bulbs may be planted in a larger pot or bulb pan. After planting, water well and put in a cool, dark, airy place until well rooted, after which remove to a cool room and later to a warmer room.

As there is a slight variation in the time of blooming of the various sorts, we have indicated their relative time of flowering by letters following the name of the variety, the A's being the earliest, the D's the latest.

Outdoor Culture: Plant in October and November, in good, well-drained garden soil. Plant bulbs so that the top will be 3 to 4 inches below the surface and 6 to 8 inches apart. After the ground has frozen, cover with litter, leaves, or manure, to protect them from frost; this should be removed in spring when danger from hard frost is past.

The Multi-Flowered French Roman Hyacinths

French Roman Hyacinths afford a continuous supply of bloom indoors from early winter until late in spring if planted in succession. They are very fragrant and are easily grown in pots or pans. If bulbs are potted in September, the pots plunged in the open ground for a month until well rooted, and then brought in the house, they can be had in flower in November or December. A continuous supply of flowers may be had by bringing in a few pots or pans at intervals of about two weeks. The bulbs should be planted quite close together; a 6-inch pot or pan will be sufficiently large for six bulbs. They are not hardy and are not suitable for outdoor planting.

Everblooming Hybrid Tea Roses

Everblooming Roses produce beautiful flowers over a long season, from about ten weeks after they are planted in spring until late frosts. Those planted in the fall produce their finest blooms early the next summer and continue throughout the season. Practically all Everblooming Hybrid Tea Roses are fragrant at some time of the day. Most of them are hardy all over the United States if protected in winter.

From the long list of varieties in commerce we offer those that have survived the test for plant vigor and good blooming habit in most parts of the United States.

All Everblooming Hybrid Tea Roses, each, $1.25; 12, $13.75. Collection: 1 each of the 6 varieties marked * for $6.95

AUTUMN IS IDEAL FOR REBUILDING THE LAWN

The cool, moist weather of late summer and early fall affords an ideal condition for rebuilding a lawn that has suffered from drought, neglect, or the ravages of weeds. Seed sown at this time will show quicker growth and has a tendency to stool or spread out. Competition with weeds is practically eliminated at this season, since weeds are incapable of germination until spring, by which time fall-sown grass is thoroughly established. Seed may be sown successfully as late as October 15 in the latitude of Philadelphia, but we would recommend the month of September for best results.

Quantity to Sow for Lawns: We recommend sowing 5 pounds per 1000 square feet, 150 pounds per acre on new ground without grass. In renovating established lawns, use half the above quantities.

MICHELL'S GREEN VELVET LAWN SEED

This widely known combination of pure lawn grasses is the result of over 50 years' experience with problems of fine turf. It is recommended for the open, sunny lawn, where a closely knit, weed-free turf of lustrous green, velvety appearance is desired. Peonies

The old-time Peony has been a well-known dooryard plant for many generations, and for this reason is especially associated with home. It needs good soil and full sun, and will live and bloom in the same location for many years. September and October are ideal planting months for Peonies. Be sure not to set them too deep; 2 inches below soil level is about right.
